

IN MEMORIAM

Charles H. Whitebread, 1943-2008

The American Judges Association expresses condolences to the family of Charles H. Whitebread, who was the George T. and Harriet E. Pfleger Chair in Law of the University of Southern California School of Law. Prof. Whitebread succumbed to lung cancer on September 16, 2008 at the age of 65.

His annual updates on “Recent Decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court” has long been a highlight of AJA’s annual conferences. He was highly regarded for his “larger-than-life” personality and was recognized for his excellence in the classroom with the William A. Rutter Distinguished Teacher award last spring. He has twice been honored as USC’s Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year by the Student Bar Association.

Prof. Whitebread taught at the University of Virginia School of Law for 13 years before joining the faculty at USC.

member after my first conference where I was impressed mainly with the members but also with what the AJA has to offer. It’s been something of a dream since then—being appointed to the executive committee and then elected into the officer ranks. Hopefully, new members will see this as encouraging their own participation and recognize that this is not an old boys’ club but a vibrant and exciting organization forging ahead. I want to welcome those new members especially to become involved with our various committees and to take an active role in guiding the AJA. I also want to recognize the past leaders of the AJA who have provided me with both role models and valuable mentors.

GUILTY

As caseloads increase, the number of documents passing through the court system grows exponentially—leading to increased costs, lost files, and, worst of all, postponed hearings. Digital document management from Laserfiche® clears these paperwork backlogs by digitizing and storing paper documents in a secure, centralized repository. The result? Authorized personnel have instant access to case information, leading to faster clearance rates—without consuming additional staff resources.
